I, Vincent Ross Siemer, legal news publisher of Gulf Harbour, swear as true:

- 0.0 I am the person represented by the Judgment SC80/2015 [2015] NZSC 196 ("the Judgment") as appearing "in person".
- 1.0 I hereby confirm:
- 1.1 I did not appear in person or otherwise in respect to the legal issue addressed in the Judgment.
- 1.2 I was not given notice by anyone that a full bench of the Supreme Court planned to convene to determine new legal questions on its jurisdiction or, more precisely, its lack of jurisdiction. Indeed, I did not become aware of this until after the Judgment was issued.
- 1.3 I was not allowed to make submissions on the issue determined in the judgment.
- 1.4 My reasonably informed and considered view is no one was given notice of the Supreme Court's intent to convene a full court, provided knowledge of it sitting or allowed to make legal submissions.
- 1.5 The Supreme Court acted on its own motion to consider the question of limiting its jurisdiction to consider private chambers orders of its own members.

Sworn before me at Whangaparaoa)
This 22nd day of December 2015)
